

Organizations where you can gain support if you are a survivor from abuse.

- Christian organization in the UK supporting the abused
- Adults in the UK
- Adult survivors of childhood abuse
- Children and young people
- Older people
- People with a disability
- Other specialist support groups

If you google the web address below

<https://www.mind.org.uk/information-support/guides-to-support-and-services/abuse/>

This is the most comprehensive list of support organizations for UK citizens on the internet in reference to the groups listed above.

<https://www.safespacesenglandandwales.org.uk>

This is a website and phone service specifically devoted to supporting those survivors from abuse in the present or past in the Christian church by a religious or church worker.

International organizations supporting and with information ref abuse and supporting the survivors of abuse outside the UK

- a. Domesticshelters.org
- b. <https://safeguardingsupporthub.org/>
- c. <https://thirtyoneeight.org/about-us/where-we-work/> -

Thirtyoneeight.org You can join as a member and they will support you if you are working internationally on a safeguarding issue. They don't specifically support the abused, but they will be able to direct you internationally to support groups. Membership is not expensive.